Fourteen-year-old Ecrin from Kocaeli is the only girl in her karting team. She started karting at the age of nine, when her uncle took her to a track near İzmit. ‘I fell in love with the speed and the noise,’ she says. Now she trains three afternoons a week and races in competitions around Türkiye.

Karting is a kind of motor-racing for young people. It can be dangerous, so drivers wear helmets, gloves and special suits. Ecrin says the sport teaches her to be calm and to make quick decisions. Her parents were nervous at first, but now they are her biggest supporters. Ecrin’s dream is to race in Formula 1 one day. ‘People say it’s a sport for men,’ she smiles, ‘but I don’t agree!’

★★★★☆ Blue Door Hostel, Kaş — review by Lucas from Germany
I stayed at Blue Door Hostel for four nights in May. The hostel is in the old town, only five minutes from the harbour. My room was small but clean, and I shared it with three other travellers. The best thing was the rooftop terrace: every evening, guests watched the sunset there and talked about their trips. Breakfast wasn't included, but there were lots of cheap cafés nearby. The only problem was the noise from the street on Saturday night. I took a boat trip to Kekova, where you can see the ruins of an ancient city under the water. I've been to many seaside towns, but Kaş is my favourite so far.
