> THE ATATÜRK SCHOOL GAZETTE — What makes a true friend?
>
> Last month the English club asked 120 students at our school one question: “What is the most important quality of a good friend?” The results were interesting. Most students, 45 per cent, said a good friend should keep secrets. For them, a friend who gossips is not a real friend. Thirty per cent think a friend should have a good sense of humour, because life is more fun with someone who makes you laugh. Fifteen per cent chose “being supportive”, and only ten per cent said “having the same hobbies”.
> We also talked to Defne from 8-A. “My best friend Ayla and I are very different,” she said. “I love basketball, and she loves painting. But she always backs me up when I have a problem, and she never talks behind my back. I can count on her.”
