17. More and more people around the world are moving to cities. To deal with problems like traffic, pollution and waste, some cities are becoming “smart cities”. A smart city uses technology to make life easier and greener. For example, smart rubbish bins send a message to workers when they are full, so trucks don’t drive around for nothing. Street lights become brighter only when someone walks or drives past, which saves energy. Apps show people when the next bus will arrive. However, these systems collect a lot of data, so cities must make sure people’s personal information is protected.
