> The Demir family lives in a three-storey house in Eskişehir, and it is never quiet. Grandma Saliha lives on the ground floor. She is seventy-two, but she is still very active; she walks in the park every morning and cooks for the whole family at weekends.
> Mr. and Mrs. Demir live on the first floor with their two children, Zeynep and Batu. Zeynep is sixteen. She has long dark hair and glasses, and she is very organized. Batu is twelve and quite the opposite: he is messy and forgetful, but he makes everyone laugh. On the top floor, their uncle Kemal has a small flat. He is a music teacher, so the house is often full of piano sounds.
> The family has one important rule: every Friday evening, everybody turns off their phones and plays board games together. Batu always loses, but he never stops smiling.
