> Archery is one of the oldest sports in the world, and it has a special place in Turkish history. For centuries, Turkish archers used short, curved bows. These bows were made of wood, animal horn and sinew, so they were light but very powerful. Archers could shoot arrows a very long distance with them. In Istanbul, there is an area called Okmeydanı. In Ottoman times, archers practised and competed there. Today, traditional archery is becoming popular again. Many young people go to archery clubs at the weekend. They learn how to hold the bow, how to breathe and how to stay calm. Archery isn't only about strong arms. You also need patience and good concentration.
