> Turkey is on active fault lines, so earthquakes happen often. We can't stop earthquakes, but we can be prepared. Before an earthquake, families should prepare an emergency bag. It should have water, food, a torch, a whistle, a first aid kit and copies of important documents. Heavy furniture, like bookcases, should be fixed to the walls. During an earthquake, remember three words: drop, cover and hold on. Drop to the ground, cover your head and neck under a strong table and hold on to it. Stay away from windows. Don't use the lift and don't run outside while the ground is shaking. After the earthquake, go to a safe open area. Use your whistle if you are trapped.
