> Last month, our high school in Gaziantep hosted twelve students from a school in Italy. It was an exchange week, and every Italian student stayed with a Turkish family. My guest was Giulia. She was sixteen, like me, and she wanted to become an architect. On Monday, the guests joined our lessons. They found our timetable very busy. On Tuesday, we visited the Zeugma Mosaic Museum. Giulia loved the famous Gypsy Girl mosaic. On Wednesday, we made baklava together in a local bakery. It was messy but fun! In the evenings, we spoke English, but Giulia also learned some Turkish words, like teşekkürler and afiyet olsun. On Friday, we said goodbye at the airport. Next spring, our class is going to visit her school in Bologna.
