> Iceland is a small island country in the North Atlantic Ocean. It has a population of about 400,000 people — fewer than many Turkish cities! Although its name sounds very cold, the climate along the coast is milder than you might expect. Iceland is famous for its volcanoes, glaciers and hot springs. Icelanders use the heat from underground to warm their homes and produce electricity. In summer, the sun hardly sets, and in winter, people can sometimes see the Northern Lights dancing in the sky. Tourists visit Iceland to see waterfalls, whales and black sand beaches.
