> A 64-year-old hiker who had been missing for two days in the Kaçkar Mountains was found alive on Tuesday, thanks to a sheepdog named Karabaş. The man had gone hiking alone on Sunday morning but did not return in the evening. Search teams were looking for him in heavy fog when Karabaş, who belongs to a local shepherd, began barking and running towards a valley. Rescuers followed the dog and found the hiker lying near a stream with a broken ankle. He was taken to hospital by helicopter. Doctors said that his condition was stable. “Karabaş is a hero,” the shepherd told reporters.
